Dedication

The 1989 Talisman is dedicated to Ella Messer for all her help, faith, and organization. Without her, the '89 staff would have become too buried in their own mess and confusion to have ever finished this tremendous task of producing a yearbook.

When we were unexpectedly left without an advisor at the beginning of the school year, Ella took on many of the responsibilities without the added incentive of an advisor's paycheck. Her dedication to successfully producing this book kept us going when we began to get frustrated. She kept after us when we slowed in pace and she sat with us when we began to feel isolated in our own little nook of the school which came to be known as the yearbook room.

We hope the recognition you receive through this dedication helps to make up for all the stress and hassle you've put up with this year. Thanks for everything Ella and may you never have to go through this again.

I wish to extend special thanks to my mother, Pat Holm, for helping me when the deadlines proved too much for me to handle. — Tracie

Head Of The Class

Officers Of The Class Of 1989

TREASURER: Craig McCuin, VICE PRESIDENT: Jason Carbine, PRESIDENT: Michael Caulin, SECRETARY: Tori Oakman

President's Message

Class of 1989:

During the past four years at Rutland High School, the Class of 1989 has experienced sadness as well as happiness. Through these trying times, we have been brought closer by allowing each of us to accept one another's feelings. Our times of joy have been enhanced by our closeness, which gives us all something great to look back on.

We are leaving R.H.S. not only as the Class of '89' but as a group of individuals always striving forward to accomplish anything we desire. Even though the future is an unknown, I feel that each of us has experienced a bond between our dreams and reality; I believe that this dream foreshadows our success in the years to come. I wish all of you the strength to overcome your sadness and the courage to pursue your dreams of happiness.

Good Luck Class of 89

Days long past
Gone so fast
Figures of a pantomime
We've been in time
You are my friend
Tis not the end

You go your way
I shall stay
For we've come to see
Our own reality
We found, it seems,
The dawn of our dreams

So now we depart
Not, though, in heart
See the sun
Know what's done
Think of the years
Forget not the tears

When you run
To the moon or sun
I'll see in the dew
The true you
Search and find
All that is kind

When you are sad
Or even glad
Remember I'm here,
In your heart, near
I'll listen and see
Pull you from the sea

So I say leave
Do not grieve
For what's behind
You'll surely find
Is now ahead
All is done and said
— Heather Rachel
Godlewski

CONFLICT =

the ideal vs.
what we know is true

I know, I have eyes and a brain I am not stupid,
I think the same thoughts that you do.
Over and over
But I can't climb the wall myself
For then it would be just me
Alone
again
because you climb a different wall
And then the essence is gone, from my grasp

Remember when we were young -
You shone like the sun -
Shine on you crazy diamond.

Memories

As we leave these hallways
And enter the world we've been told is so cruel,
We must remember that we were once equal
And we were all in a sense friends
No matter how we look at the past
And look into the future
We must remember we only get what we give in this world
If we give very little, we will get very little
If we give alot, we will get alot
We are not to forget the past,
For it has taught us to grow
But we must not live for the past
We must move on and enjoy our future
The years pass quickly as we all may realize, so,
Just remember that we were a class
We shared the happy and the sad
We have celebrated life
And we have mourned death
We grew together and our time has come to separate
But we will always be together
In our memories
God bless

Her

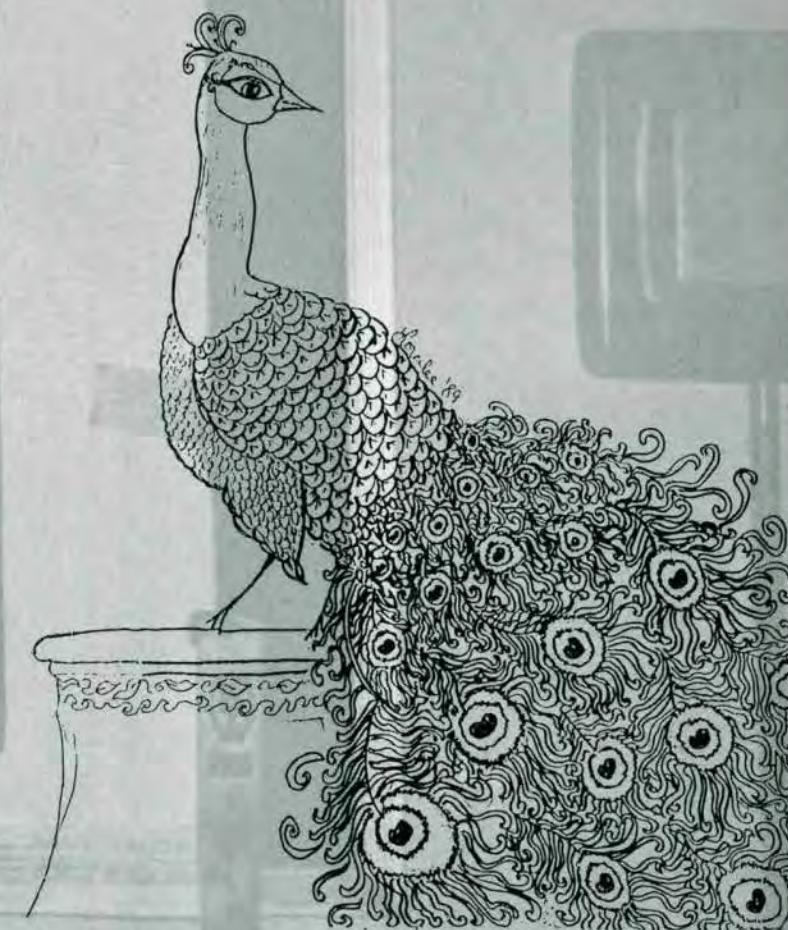

Society peers with unblinking eyes
At a child it did not create
It looks at her with envy
Unconsciously masked with hate
And plots for her conformity
Though she'll never give in
Because though she has no religion
She knows it would be a sin

She tells society to go to hell
And the anger grows tenfold
Not because of what she said
But because society can't be so bold
And as society grows angry
It starts to clench it's fists
And throws out sharp comments
Hoping they'll slit her wrists

As we walk down the path of life
We may encounter hardship and strife
But if you just remember the times we had
It will make things seem not so bad.

Remember the unity, the bond we felt
But when all was done, the cards were dealt
We had to depart our separate ways
But we'll never forget our high school days.

We Leave...

I, Erik Abrahamovich, leave my sister Tara 2 things, my volleyball skills which she desperately needs, and what she wants and deserves most, Mable.

I, David Visi, leave Jason Cassarino and T.J. Sabotka my ability to shoot the 3.

I, Rob Waite, leave my guitar, amplifier, and playing ability to Fred Wood, and my car to Scott Lancour.

I, Jason (Burner) Washburn, leave to Ed Ryan the Palms Special, and I leave all the trouble that has followed me, Joe, and Marty through high school behind me.

I, Jody Werner, leave Coach B. one more good speech, since he used them all up on our team.

I, Andrea Wilder, leave all my Bg's on T.J.'s arm, my car to Chrissy, so she can take all day to cry with her friends, and to T.A. "The Ability."

I, Amanda Winship, leave Diana Hubbard the ability to "STOP" when she feels it necessary, and good luck to Kerri and Sue in seasons to come.

I, Dan Wolins, leave Phil Dwyer my third base skills that Dougie left Timmy and Timmy left me.

I, Chris Wright, leave my ability to shoot partridge to Coach Beerworth.

I, Anne Alfonso, leave Alison Whitehair & Laura Wilkonson a neverending source of laughter, they'll need it to make it through this place.

I, Maria Carmolli, leave my ability to eat nothing to Meredith Wyant.

I, Tammy Emrick, leave to my brother Rick, everything I didn't do and hope he can accomplish it. Good Luck.

I, Charlie Holbrook, leave Chris Bower the right to punch school lockers.

RHS Welcomes Exchange Students

And A Few Words . . .

When I entered the school the first day, I was a little shocked about the multitude of students rushing from one class to another during what small time they called a break. The bell had already rung while I was still trying to remember the combination of my locker. (We don't have lockers in schools back home and our breaks last 15 minutes.) When I finally got in to the class and had my book opened in front of me, I noticed, after a few minutes, that I was in a wrong class.

Anyway I soon got used to the rhythm of the school life, which turned out to be not so bad after all. I started feeling that this was my school and that I was a part of it thanks to all the wonderful people I made friends with and all the members of the soccer and hockey teams, who immediately accepted me as a part of the team.

I played soccer in the fall and hockey, which has always been my greatest passion, in the winter. I enjoyed both sports but especially playing hockey for the R.H.S. team. It was "awesome". We don't have sport teams in high schools in Finland but we play hockey, for instance, for a hockey club. It was nice to see how most of the school supported the team and how students came to see our home games and sometimes even away games.

Although it is not always mere sunshine to be an exchange student, most of the time I loved it and I would like to thank all R.H.S. warmly for being an important part in making my year in Rutland, Vermont as splendid as it could possibly be.

Being an exchange student was certainly very fun and a good experience. During my visit to the United States I enjoyed playing soccer, volleyball, and skiing. At Rutland High I . . . (It was great!)

Between Brazil and the U.S. there are a lot of differences, especially the school system. The people at school were very friendly and I met a lot of "cool dudes" like most of the people that I used to hang around with in Brazil. However, the best memories I will have are going out with my American friends and having a crazy time.

Most importantly, I thank you all for being so kind and helpful during my stay in your country.

Take it easy guys.

Hi Dudes.

I'm Janne Weckman from Finland. I spent this year at Rutland High School. The year was awesome and cool. I played soccer, volleyball, tennis, and went skiing.

Thanks to everybody for this year.

When I was a child
I caught a fleeting glimpse
Out of the corner of my eye
I turned to look
But it was gone.
I can't put my finger on it now-
The child is grown
The dream is gone.

The Girls Varsity Field Hockey Team finished their season with an 8-7-1 record. After losing the season opener, the Raiders picked up momentum and went 6-1-1 in their next eight matches. The highlight of the year was an upset play-off victory over higher seed Spaulding High School. This put the Raiders into the Quarter Finals. The game was lost, 1-0, to undefeated, and eventual State champions, Middlebury.

The loss of 12 seniors to graduation of 87' left Rutland with a young, but talented, group of athletes. Sophomores Erin Canty, Adrienne Domenicucci, and Shari Muscatello, are just a few underclassman who were outstanding starters. Jen Patch, Senior Captain, was voted most valuable player. Players selected to the CVGAL All State Team were Jen Patch, Michele Carroll, and Erin Canty. Michele Carroll was also selected to the Twin State Team.

The Junior Varsity also had an excellent season with a 4-3-4 record.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

This year we are all learning to play together as a basketball team, instead of as individuals. Michael Caliguiri, our new coach, has taught us to realize our strengths, and gain confidence. We also work hard to compensate for our weaknesses. Through determination, hard work, and a lot of heart, we hope to reach our goals and dreams. We are striving to fulfill our potential, and be a successful basketball team.

We wish to thank our coach for caring, and best of luck to next year's team!

Adam Birkenhead was chosen this year, while attending Boys' State, to attend Boy's Nation, along with co-delegate Paul Wilder of People's Academy. Boys' Nation is an intense week-long study of the Federal government. The program is held at Marymount University in Arlington, Virginia, just outside of Washington, D.C.. During the week, the delegates, two from every state, form their own Boys' Nation Senate. This legislative body passed it's own mock bills. Other activities included a sight-seeing tour of the Washington area, tours of various government agencies, lunch at the Capitol with the respective state Senators, and a press conference with the President of the United States, (Sam Donalson included.)

Encore Theatre

So, how do you like the pictures? Yeah, that's us, Encore Theatre! I know you never imagined that there could be so many interesting people in one picture. Well, Anyway, there's Jason Gresl, our most distinguished president, Penny Inglee our honorable, but ditzzy, vice-president, and of course our stingy treasurer Rob Townshend with Michele Clifford that organized secretary.

For excitement this year we got daring and combined efforts with the music department to produce Oliver! Hey, music department, guess what? Because of you we packed the house for three nights and our echo remains.

Then we decided to get serious and get down to some nitty-gritty work. In early December we held auditions for "The Mouse That Roared" and "The Arkansaw Bear". All those political people should have been amused by the "The Mouse That Roared" in January.

The real thrill came in April, on April Fools Day no less, when we all trudged off to Regionals at Castleton. We co-hosted with MSJ and Mill River.

Encore Theatre! is enjoying new found support and a brand new dimmer board. Our thanks to director Cathy Archer. We seniors hope our efforts have made an impression on the arts at Rutland and thank you for the laughs.

AP BIO - HARD AT WORK

What is more delicious than roast duck? Better than roast beef? Funnier than fried fish? The obvious answer to these questions is locusts, roasted of course. Gently crushed out of existence with a pinch from Tucker Gilman, placed carefully in a pan over a chemistry lab hot plate, and sauteed in butter and garlic, the locust makes for fine feasting. Early this year, Mr. Hooker's A.P. Biology class participated in the first annual Locust Roast, hosted by Mr. Hooker. The locusts, freshly captured and killed, were cooked and eaten by the class in the name of science. The coating of the locusts, known as chitin, consists of a tough, modified polysaccharide, or for you who do not know what a saccharide is, the coating is made of sugar. Although the roasted locusts did taste divine roasted in butter and garlic, they were far from sweet. Apparently, modified polysaccharides, do not taste as good as regular table sugar. The A.P. Biology class also undertook experiments in the physics of bubbles and their roles in natural systems. The gigantic bubbles, and the locust roast, are just two examples of the fun to be found in the class. The creative and imaginative Mr. Hooker deserves all the credit for the excitement.

"Art has become more popular at RHS first of all because the students are somewhat forced into it because of credit requirements. But with the teacher's determination many of the students slowly realize (after a little coaxing) that art can open doorways within themselves that they never knew were there. Being able to create expresses more than the outer shell of a person. Art, pottery, and painting lets you bring out things from the inside more easily. You don't have to talk and get confused. You let your hands do the explaining. The finished product is something the student can be very proud of. It's something no one else can copy and this proves that everyone is an individual in their own special way."

Take a look

Having transferred to Rutland High School from MSJ for my senior year, I had good opportunity to see what an Art class was like as I was informed that I had to take one in order to graduate. Before school started I figured that art class would be one of my more boring classes but one I had to take. When school did start and I started my art class something a little scary happened, I had fun. I enjoyed painting, and using clay and drawing which I never had the opportunity to do at that other school with all the green. I'm glad I had to take an art class because I really did enjoy it and anyone who doesn't believe me can go to my house and see my clay umbrella stand which I will proudly display for the rest of my life.

Taking Over

As many of us walked through the doors of the school this late August we found ready to greet us a new administration. Our first glimpse came during an assembly when Mr. Poljacik laid down the law for those of us willing to listen. He had clearly made himself known early on in the game, but Principal Fenwick was still unseen. Later in the week you could encounter him, finding some understanding behind the new enforcements.

When I met and talked with Mr. Fenwick I got a different perspective of his job. He told me to sit at his desk while he sat on the other side ready to answer my questions. In general, he is rather impressed with the student body and believes the faculty is doing its job well. More student activities, such as bonfires, dances and intramural sports are some of the happenings Mr. Fenwick would like to see take root at Rutland. Furthermore, he finds a group of achievers here which he thinks should be able to take on the responsibility of cooperating in and helping to organize some of these events.

As a man who has spent many years in education, Mr. Fenwick hopes his one year here will be productive and will carry over to the next principal.

Mr. Poljacik initially offered me an explanation of why he may not smile much saying that in his job he often deals with the bad rather than the good. From a man who is already known to have a presence here, he finds the students enthusiastic and friendly and the faculty, excellent. He finds that class activities including spirit days promote social growth as well as individual maturity. His goals are to improve attendance and work with teachers on better use of their day.

In general our new administration is enthusiastic and ready to help us. From the view of one student, I find that if you need to see them, they are available for us.

Red Ribbon Week

Throughout Rutland, during October 24-28, red ribbons signified the drug free choice. Sponsored by the Steven Gaiko Memorial Fund, red ribbon week became drug awareness week at RHS. SADD, GMTI, and Mr. Kreitzer's communications classes all did programs ranging from Death Day in the Senior High to Fun Day in the Junior High. These programs, plus a wrecked car from a drunk driving accident and alcohol awareness posters made quite an impression on the students of RHS.

D.A.V. Recognizes Honor Students

The Thirty-first Annual Chapter 7 Disabled American Veterans' Scholastic Dinner to honor students from M.S.J. and R.H.S. was held on Wednesday, November 16. Twenty-four students from R.H.S. and eleven students from M.S.J. attended. In a friendly atmosphere students enjoyed a dinner and listened to the special guest speakers.

Frank Miglorie, Jr., the President of the College of St. Joseph, was the featured speaker. The Mayor of Rutland, Jeffrey N. Wennberg was also present. The principals of both schools, Mr. Fenwick and Sister Shirley Davis were also in attendance as well as their assistants, Mr. Poljacik and Mr. Henry S. Rizziere. The master of ceremonies was Attorney Joseph M. O'Neill.

The tables were decorated in red and green and the atmosphere was not one of rivalry but one of honor and prestige. The speeches were intriguing and everyone left feeling part of an important group.

Seniors Fly High

What's the old question- how many angels will fit on the head of a pin? Ms. Trainor's sixth period calculus class has an answer, to a slightly different version of the question. Here you have it! Twenty-four cherubs on one desk!! Ms. Trainor's A.P. Calculus class is one of three Advanced Placement courses offered at RHS. Many seniors take advantage of these courses and enroll in more than one, which proves to be a senior challenge to anyone who faces it. All of these senior cherubs will have their chance to shine their halos in May when the A.P. exams roll around. These exams may not only give students the chance to earn college credits, but also to prove their "true" cherub status in the eyes of Ms. Trainor, whether it be a fifth-class cherub, a fourth-class cherub, or a no-class cherub.
